

CONFERENCE

We invite you for the publication of the national and international conference papers as a special issue or regular issue on the journal. We hope, it will be an appreciable step in promoting the research activities and scientific information interchange between researchers, developers, engineers, students, academicians and practitioners working in and around the world. The journal has been an integral part of the publication of conference proceedings/articles. The motivation of this is to work together for publication and share the work at the international platform.

Conference papers will be published online as a special issue / regular issue based on the following Criteria.

- ✓ On prior permission, you can share the details of the journal in the conference brochure and also conference link on the journal online page.
- ✓ All published papers will get unique CrossRef DOI (including DOI of special issue).
- ✓ Before online publication authors need to submit the copyright form, which will be provided by the Journal committee.
- ✓ You can provide details of editorial board members or reviewers of the conference in case of the special issue.
- ✓ We will provide the softcopy as well hard copy of complete proceeding and also certificates of publication to all the authors.
